

Joseph Morton,
AP Reporter Is Executed After
Capture By Hun

By LYNN HEINZLING
Linz, Austria, July 7 (Delayed by Censorship) (AP)—German officials now in custody say Joseph Morton, Associated Press war correspondent who was captured after he flew into Slovakia during a Czechoslovakia uprising, was executed in the Mauthausen concentration camp Jan. 24 on orders from Heinrich Himmler's staff in Berlin.

Morton, 34, an imaginative and energetic correspondent who came out of Romania with the first interview of King Mihai after Romania made peace last year, was captured near Plomka in Slovakia the day after last Christmas.

He was taken to Bratislava and arrived in Mauthausen, 15 miles east of this city, early in January.

Nine other Americans and four Britons—all members of a group which flew into Slovakia in October to help bring out American fliers stranded there—were shot to death with Morton and their bodies were cremated, according to these witnesses.

Some Are Tortured

Some of the men were beaten with a stick held by one of the interrogators, he said. The wrists of one man were tied behind his back, and he was suspended from the ceiling by a chain attached to his wrists. This treatment usually tears the victims' shoulders from their sockets.

"When we questioned Morton," the interpreter said, "he asked about his fate and stressed that he was no soldier. He reported he had nothing to do with the group officially."

"He asked me whether he could not be allowed to send a telegram to the Associated Press, pointing out to me that the press is rather powerful and could put some pressure on the development of negotiations."

"He cited the instance of a press campaign concerning censorship in Yugoslavia. Mr. Arndt (one of the interrogators) said he would pass this suggestion on."

Appeal Is Refused

Nevertheless a few days later the telegram came from Berlin saying the execution is "Du vollziehen" (to be carried out). This telegram was signed by Ernst Kaltenbrunner, who was Himmler's right hand man and chief of the German security police (he is held by the Allies.) The message was received by Adolf Zutter, adjutant of the camp, and passed on the zeilreis.

That same day, according to the interpreter, the men were told to change their uniforms for prison garb and were led down to the execution room.

Morton flew to Slovakia Oct. 7, 1944, from Italy in one of six Flying Fortresses sent to evacuate a group of fliers massed at a landing strip in the hands of Czechoslovakian partisans near Banska Bystrica.

A number of American and British officers and men went on the same flight to remain and help in the collecting of escaped fliers. The planes were received enthusiastically by Slovaks at the airfield.

Morton wrote a short story about the evacuated fliers and sent it back with the planes, which left about a half hour after landing. Morton then remained in Banska Bystrica with the rescue mission.

Joined Patriots

Through an almost continuous rain and sleet the party moved up into the mountains.

On Oct. 31 Morton and the others were in the Bratislava region and joined with Czechoslovak patriots in a march toward the Russian lines. According to the survivors of that march almost everyone was suffering from frostbitten feet, but pushed doggedly ahead for 15 hours that day.

Morton narrowly escaped serious injury when a small landslide roared past the party.

During this trek, Morton never lost his faith that eventually the party would reach safety. He helped raise the morale of the entire group, said one of its members who cannot yet be named.

On Nov. 30 the Allied personnel were attacked by Germans while resting in a mining camp near Dolina Lehota. Morton and the rest managed to escape and set off immediately for Poland.

On the following day they reached the village of Myto, and stayed there until Dec. 12. They reached a shack near Polomka Dec. 14 and remained there to recover their strength.

Xmas Eve Party

On Christmas Eve there was a small Christmas party in the shack, which was decorated with American and British flags. Members of the group observed two minutes of silence for missing members.

On Dec. 26 the shack was fired upon from all sides by a large group of German troops, Ukrainian soldiers of Lt. Gen. Andrei A. Vlassov and Slovakian Hlinka Guards.

Morton and all the others in the shack were captured with the exception of a Slovak partisan who dived through a window and watched the

HOLDER OF CROIX DE GUERRE GETS ARMY DISCHARGE

Bernard E. Small, West High street, New Oxford, formerly a technician fifth grade with the 601st Tank Destroyer Battalion and holder of the Croix de Guerre from the French First army for remaining at his post as a machine gunner during a German tank and infantry attack near Colmar, filed his discharge from the Army of the United States today at the office of county Registrar and Recorder Winfield G. Horner.

Corporal Small, now only 23, is a veteran of 42 months service in the Army of which 34½ were served overseas. He was decorated for heroism and devotion to duty in an attack through Colmar Gap by 50 German Mark V tanks supported by infantry February 1, 1945. During the attack Corporal Small stated that his organization was subjected to the first and only rocket attack it ever experienced. It was for action while the rocket bombs were falling that Corporal Small said he was decorated. "I should have had sense enough to take cover and I didn't. Then it was all over and I was still at my post."

In Invasion of Africa

"Our battalion held off the Germans," Corporal Small continued. "We lost 23 M-10 tank destroyers, but 13 held. They stormed our forward positions, but we drove them back."

Corporal Small received the Croix de Guerre with Palmes from General Jean de Lattre de Tassigny at a special ceremony later in February during which other American soldiers were honored by their allies.

Attached with his Tank Destroyer Battalion to the famed American First Division, Corporal Small was with the first troops to sail to the European Theatre of Operations aboard the equally famed Queen Mary. "They packed 22,000 aboard that trip," he said. After landing in Scotland with the First Division, the 601st T. D. Bn. participated in amphibious training with the Fighting First from their base on Salisbury Plain in England. Later the battalion accompanied the First in the invasion of North Africa, making the landing with it at Arzou near Oran and participating in the bloody battle of St. Cloud.

TAKES CONVOY THROUGH JAPS

With the 24th Infantry "Victory" Division on Mindanao (By Mail)—"The Japs ambushed our truck convoy and it took us more than six hours to fight ourselves and the trucks out of the trap," said Private First Class Clarence C. Hoff, husband of Mrs. Lovina Hoff, York Springs, R. 2.

The convoy was carrying supplies to the 19th Infantry Regiment fighting near Davao. On the road the supply party discovered an engineer's truck which had been blown up by a mine. The driver of the lead truck feared that there were more mines in the road. He eased his truck off the road to circle the danger spot. Soon heavy sniper fire and machinegun sprays halted the convoy.

Hoff and his comrades jumped off the vehicles and gave battle. A lieutenant fired a machinegun mounted on one of the trucks. Several Japs were killed and three Americans were wounded. An American aid man crawled out under fire to help the wounded.

Holding the Japs at bay, the convoy crew, standing knee-deep in mud, used winches to pull their vehicles out of the roadside slush. It took them six and one half hours to complete a two-mile trip.

Through an almost continuous rain and sleet the party moved up into the mountains.

On Oct. 31 Morton and the others were in the Bratislava region and joined with Czechoslovak patriots in a march toward the Russian lines. According to the survivors of that march almost everyone was suffering from frostbitten feet, but pushed doggedly ahead for 15 hours that day.

Many See Eclipse Without Dark Glasses

Gettysburgians, who thought of it and were interested, saw the partial eclipse of the sun about eight o'clock this morning without the use of dark glasses.

Light fleecy clouds, which furnished sufficient eye shield, enabled the curious and the interested to see the partial eclipse distinctly. Most people reported they saw the astrophysical feature without dark glasses.

The sun was blotted out briefly in some sections of the country in total eclipse for the first time since 1922.

A total shadow started at sunrise, 7:59 a. m. EWT, in Idaho and moved eastward along a 25-mile path.

MILDRED KING TOPS STUDENTS IN BOND SALES

Setting a new record of $84,234.35 worth of war bonds sold during the "Mighty Seventh" war loan campaign, Gettysburg's public and high school students boosted their school year sales to $140,639.65 from September, 1944, to July 6, 1945. Miss N. Louise Ramer, education chairman, announced today.

High school students headed the list with $64,682.85 worth of sales during the Seventh war loan drive. Lincoln school was second with $14,524.75. High street school reported $3,203.70 worth of war bond sales and Meade school pupils sold $1,813.95.

Leading Salesmen

Miss Mildred King, a freshman, won high honors by selling 61 bonds to 50 individuals and was awarded five stars.

Bars are awarded to students selling at least six bonds to six individuals. 45 stars were awarded to local pupils during the six previous drives. Stars may be added to the bar. A student selling 10 bonds to 10 individuals earns a star.

Miss Ruth Fortenbaugh, a junior, sold 21 bonds to 21 individuals and earned two stars.

Jean Musselman, a junior, and Marianne Bracey, a freshman, earned a star and bar respectively for selling 12 bonds to 12 individuals each.

Ann Raffensperger, a sophomore, sold 12 bonds to 11 people and earned 1 star. Patty Sponsler, freshman, sold 11 bonds to 11 people and earned a bar. Joan Johnston, junior, sold 11 bonds to 11 people and earned a star.

Other Awards

Bars were awarded to Mary Bower, freshman, 8 bonds to 8 people, June Kump, sophomore, 10 bonds to 6 people, Richard Mills, freshman, 8 bonds to 6 people, and Vincent Conti, senior, 7 bonds to 6 people.

At the Lincoln school, Jeanne Waltemyer, 8th grade, sold 15 bonds to 10 individuals and earned a bar. Jane Deardorff, 8th grade, sold 21 bonds to 7 people and earned a bar and James Bracey, 7th grade, sold 10 bonds to 10 people and earned a bar.

The awards will be made at the opening of school in September.

At the beginning of the Seventh war loan drive each home room in the high school and each grade building set goals for the purpose of buying equipment. Each grade building and the high school exceeded their quotas. Each piece of equipment will be marked with the name of the purchaser. Each room and building will be awarded citations in September.

ARMY PROMOTION

Robert D. Perry, of Gettysburg, Pa., has been promoted to the rank of Technician Fifth Grade at McCloskey General Hospital, Temple, Texas, where he is a surgical technician. T-5 Perry has been in the service two years. His wife resides on South Washington street.

LOCAL OFFICER RETURNS WITH 4 BATTLE STARS

Wearing four major battle stars on his ETO campaign ribbon, First Lt. Robert McCullough, 31, husband of Mrs. Hester Allison McCullough, Fairfield, and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McCullough, 214 East Middle street, arrived home Sunday and saw for the first time his four-months-old daughter, Jane. He is on a 30-day leave. He then reports to Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri.

Lieutenant McCullough, whose battalion received a presidential citation for its role in the fighting in the Hurtgen Forest and its advance on two German cities between December 1 and 5, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal, the Purple Heart and at his next post of duty will receive the Silver Star medal for which he now holds a certificate. The Silver Star award came through a week before McCullough's unit sailed from France and there was no time to prepare the citations and orders.

Wounded Last April

The young officer, whose battle stars denote participation in the campaigns of Northern France, Brittany, Western Germany and Central Germany, was wounded in April when he was hit by mortar fragments while crossing the Roer river with the First Army. He later received the Purple Heart.

The Bronze Star was awarded with a citation covering an advance patrol February 23 across the Ruhr river before the beginning of a general offensive in that area. He received the medal the next month.

Lieutenant McCullough served with the Third Battalion of the 28th Infantry Division.

He entered service more than three years ago—June, 1942—and trained at Keesler Field, Miss., and later attended officers' training school at Camp Davis, N. C. After receiving his commission he was stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga.; Fort Benning, Ga., and Camp Croft, S. C. He went overseas last September.

DRAW LOTS TO BREAK TIES IN 18 DISTRICTS

The Adams county commissioners Friday afternoon conducted drawings to break ties resulting from the primary vote in the county on June 19.

Approximately 115 persons figured in ties for nominations for various offices in 17 of the 42 election districts of the county. Only one of these put in an appearance at Friday's drawing. He drew a number and lost. Proxies drew to break the ties.

In the contest of the will of Clara Adella Stavely, Robert Laird, Esq., York, attorney for John Spangler, argued that she was not mentally competent to execute a will and that undue influence had been exerted upon Mrs. Stavely during the drafting and signing of it. Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., representing the state, argued that there was no issue involved in that no undue influence could be proved, and that her testamentary capacity was sound. A decision in the matter will be made at a later date.

Court adjourned at noon until July 14 when it will meet in chambers.

County Man Is Sued For Damages

The sum of $151.20 is claimed in a suit in trespass started in the common pleas court by M. L. Deardorff, York, against Myron M. Stearns, Gettysburg R. 2. The suit, according to the statement of claim filed in the office of Prothonotary David P. King at York by Markowitz, Liverant, Wogan and Ruch, counsel for Deardorff, is based on an automobile accident.

It is averred that on December 19, 1944, Stearns was operating his automobile on East Market street, York, and drove into the automobile of Deardorff, parked on the southern side of East Market street, east of the intersection of East Market and Queen streets, damaging the Deardorff automobile, and causing a loss as claimed in the suit.

DDT Again

Jones Beach, N. J., July 9 (AP)—Flies and mosquitoes, perennial bothers of bathers, did a unanimous fadeout yesterday at Jones Beach.

In the first peacetime test of a Todd Shipyards DDT fog generator to kill beach insect pests, observers pronounced results "100 per cent successful" as mosquitoes and flies died within a half hour.

A truck in two trips yesterday blanketed four miles of the beach with a DDT fog 15 feet high which knocked the bugs kicking. Harmless to human beings, the fog disappears within a few minutes.

The tests were directed by the New York State Science Service and the Long Island State Park Commission.

JOSEPH J. FORD GETS 6-MONTH TERM IN JAIL

Joseph J. Ford, West Middle street, was sentenced to six months in jail for aggravated assault and battery upon his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Ford, following a plea of guilty. He was ordered transferred to Harrisburg by Judge W. C. Sheely for treatment.

Richard E. Cullison, Orrtanna, charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest June 16 at 10 p. m. in Race Horse alley pleaded guilty and ordered held for observation by Judge Sheely.

Claire J. Bassett, 18, Dover R. D., was ordered confined to the White Hill Industrial school after pleading guilty to charges of burglary. He took articles, said to be worth $400 from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Nell, Reading township, which he later sold. The thefts were made between December, 1944, and February, 1945, while he was living away from home and during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Nell in Georgia.

Driver Paroled

Eugene Grady, Harrisonburg, Va., who had served seven months of a nine to eighteen months' sentence for involuntary manslaughter for the accidental killing of Frank Vandewall in an automobile accident last fall, was paroled Saturday for a period of one year by Judge, W. C. Sheely.

The court order against Charles Lehigh, Littlestown, for the support of his wife, Hattie Lehigh, and their four children was increased by Judge Sheely from $8 to $12 weekly.

The surety of the peace complaint brought by Nellie Showers, Aspers R. D., against her daughter-in-law, Florence Showers, Aspers R. D., resulted in an order that both principals post a $500 peace bond and divide the costs.

In the contest of the will of Clara Adella Stavely, Robert Laird, Esq., York, attorney for John Spangler, argued that she was not mentally competent to execute a will and that undue influence had been exerted upon Mrs. Stavely during the drafting and signing of it. Chinese Capture South Guard Pass Into Indo-China

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, July 9 (AP)—The Chinese high command announced today that Chinese forces had captured South Guard Pass (Chennakwan) on the border between China and French Indo-China and said the Japanese were retreating in confusion toward Dong Dang, south of the frontier.

With the capture of the pass, gateway to Indo-China, the whole of southwestern Kwangsi province has been cleared of the enemy, the high command said.

Chinese forces striking from recently-recaptured Liuchow along the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad toward its northern terminal at Hengyang, recaptured Lojung, 20 miles northeast of Liuchow on Saturday. Enemy forces retreated toward Luchai, 28 miles northeast of Liuchow on the highway to Kweilin, with the Chinese in hot pursuit, the high command said.

UNCLE SAM IS SEEKING FOUR BILLION CANS

An urgent appeal from the War Production Board for tin cans to replace a growing and serious shortage of tin for the armed forces was made today and The Gettysburg Times was asked to urge housewives to save every tin can they can.

The goal of the tin can salvage program is 4 billion tin cans a year. Less than half this many are now being turned in, and this number represents only one-third of the number used by housewives.

"Salvaging tin cans is a war job that citizens must assume on their own responsibility. The can manufacturers have kept production at pre-war levels, despite tin shortages, by the perfection of new processes and experimentation with new materials. The distribution of the cans they make is directed by the Government—a percentage to go over seas and a percentage for the home front to provide the protective packaging needed for essential materials. What happens to the used cans that make up the civilians' share is vastly important to continuing production," said the government appeal.

"Step On It" is the slogan for the tin can salvage campaign. Wash cans thoroughly, remove the labels, cut out the ends sufficiently to tuck them inside, flatten the cans and see that they reach the salvage depts.

Essential Weapon

Approximately 50 per cent of the 15,000 items which are under the control of the War Production Board require tin in some form as a part of the item or in the course of its manufacture.

Forty-four percent of all tin goes into the making of tin cans which are feeding the armed forces. Tin is used for tube containers for hypodermic injections, drugs and ointments. Tin is essential for telephone and telegraph wires and all electrical circuits and in the making of ships and planes.

Considering the can making industry alone, 20,000 tons of tin will be needed this year. Only 2,000 tons a year are obtained from salvage, and this amount must be doubled.

At the present time, detinning plants are working at only 50 per cent of capacity, and last year housewives threw away seven billion valuable tin cans. The tin from 13,000 cans is sufficient for a medium tank. In other words housewives threw away approximately 540,000 tanks!

Importing tin ores requires the use of valuable shipping space, for the ore can only be concentrated and refined into pig tin after it reaches this country. But the tin which becomes available in the normal procedure of detinning is rapidly recovered and refined into the purest pig tin. Thus, every pound of tin that can be recovered from used tin cans means an added saving in available shipping space and the high cost of importing tin ore.

Aussies Advance In Borneo

By HAMILTON W. FARON
Manila, July 9 (AP)—Closely supported by American warships and aircraft, Australian jungle veterans advanced against sporadic Japanese resistance today on all fronts of the southeast Borneo invasion coast around Balikpapan.

The naval units ranged the length of the coast, pounding Japanese gun positions while Mustangs, Spitfires, Kittyhawks and Liberators of the Australian and American air forces kept up a steady attack on Japanese positions, smashing guns, warehouses, barracks and small coastwise craft.

One column of the Aussie Seventh Division infantry, driving inland from captured Balikpapan, completed isolation of the Pandansari refinery area in the northwest tip of the town where the Japanese death-stand rear guard has put up its stiffest fight.

Across Balikpapan bay, where Nipponese fieldpieces harassed the Australians in the early days of the invasion, another column of the Seventh Division advanced inland from one to two miles without opposition.

Northeast of the rich oil port, forces which overran Sepinggan and Manggar airfields pushed ahead toward the great oil producing region of Sambodja and Samarinda, which extend 55 miles up the coast from Balikpapan in an area of salt marshes and swamps.

Japanese blocking the way to the oil fields turned coastal guns and mortars on the slowly advancing Australians and battled desperately to stave off as long as possible Allied occupation of the vital fuel centers.

Japs Use New Fighter Planes

Guam, July 9 (AP)—Flying new "Jack" fighter planes, Japan's recently-idle combat pilots jumped into the aerial warfare over the homeland again Sunday, trying vainly to stem the assault of long-range American Mustangs from Iwo Jima, which ravaged Tokyo airfields for the fourth time in five days.

The two-based Mustangs, Okinawa-based Marine Corsairs and navy search planes destroyed or damaged 50 Nipponese planes—many on the ground—sank eight small coastal ships and damaged six others. Seven Mustangs were the only American planes reported missing from the day's far-ranging forays which struck nearly every section of Japan's shrinking empire.

Fifth Air Force Mustangs from Okinawa swept Kyushu for the fourth straight day after Gen. George C. Kenney told them: "No Holds Barred"

"You are on Japan's doorstep and no holds are barred now, for everybody's an enemy up there."

Until now, he said, fighting has been over Japanese-subjugated territory where caution was necessary to avoid injuring friendly populations—but now "the bars are down—go and get them!"

Marine Maj. Gen. Louis Woods, Tactical Air Force commander, complained: "Good targets are growing scarce even in the heart of the Japanese empire. Our pilots really have to search for targets now but we will do anything to kill more Japs because that's our job."

Fliers of Woods' force hit Kyushu island and nearby waters destroying four vessels and damaging 19 craft. Seven grounded planes were riddled and airfields were bombed, rocketed and strafed.

"Jack" fighter planes encountered by Mustang pilots from Iwo Jima's Seventh Fighter Command have been described as navy interceptors capable of more than 400 miles per hour.

NOMURA FISHING IN PEACE POOL OVER WEEK - END

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign News Analyst)

One of the most interesting spectacles of the week-end has been that of Japan's notorious Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura doing a bit of vigorous fishing in the peace pool.

Nomura is by way of being an expert on peace—that is, on some aspects of it. He's the fellow who was in Washington as the Mikado's special envoy, talking peace and expressing Nippon's deep affection for Uncle Sam, when the Japs made their treacherous attack at Pearl Harbor. His name is deeply engraved on American memory.

The admiral—casting a long line in the hope of hooking a bit of information—says that the Allies' policy of unconditional surrender is only costing them higher casualties. He admits there's no sign that they are suffering from war-weariness, but declared:

"As long as the enemy asks for Japan's unconditional surrender she will have to shed blood proportionate to the time and intensity of each battle."

Nomura has been about a bit and isn't silly enough to think that any such statement would affect the Allied war program. Undoubtedly he is trying to draw from the Allies some further, more concrete, declaration as to what "unconditional surrender" entails. Why? Well, because Japan knows that she is beaten and she is looking about to see what can be salvaged from the wreckage.

China's War In 9th Year

Things must indeed look black to Tokyo. The home-land is virtually isolated by Allied naval and air blockade. Japan cannot feed herself, and already is faced with a food crisis. We are just hitting our stride in an aerial bombardment which will be more terrible than anything the world has seen.

This past week-end also has marked the eighth anniversary of China's struggle against Japanese barbarism—and it finds the Chinese at long last heading out of the woods. Tokyo will have noted that this anniversary was the occasion of Prime Minister Churchill's renewal of the pledge that Britain will concentrate all her efforts in cooperation with the Allies to achieve final victory in the Pacific. France, too, promised her help.

If Japan were smart she would surrender now, thereby saving herself punishment—and forestalling Russia's possible entrance into the conflict.

To Visit Comrade

Corporal Small, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Small of New Oxford, returned to this country from Le Havre, France, aboard the transport Admiral H. T. Mayo on her maiden voyage. The contingent with which Corporal Small sailed comprised the first troops the great vessel carried.

The returned soldier also has a brother, Raymond F. Small, S. 1/c, in the Navy who participated in the invasion of Normandy.

He has not made definite plans for resuming his civilian occupation as a carpenter, although he was formerly employed by the Hanover Cordage company. At present he intends to visit one of his battle comrades, former Sergeant Karl Young of New Hampshire.

8 PRISONERS SLAIN BY GUARD IN UTAH CAMP

Salina, Utah, July 9 (AP)—Machinegun bullets fired by an American soldier killed eight Germans and injured 20 others asleep in a prisoner of war camp.

Why the soldier turned loose the barrage was a question still publicly unanswered today.

The shooting occurred early yesterday, a half hour after Pfc. Clarence Bertucci of New Orleans, La., had gone on duty as a guard at the camp housing prisoners working in central Utah farm fields.

Col. Arthur Ericsson, commander of the prisoner of war camp at Ogden, of which the camp here is a branch, said Bertucci, 23, suddenly fired from his post in a guard tower into a tent area in which the prisoners were housed.

Yelled for More Bullets

Three bursts of fire, including in all 250 shots and lasting no more than 15 seconds, ripped into the tents.

His ammunition expended, Bertucci yelled for more, Ericsson said, but was placed, instead, under arrest on orders of the branch camp Commander, Lt. Albert I. Cornell.

In New Orleans, Bertucci's widowed mother said an Army officer who notified her of the incident expressed the opinion the soldier had gone "berserk."

Bertucci will be held in custody, Ericsson added, pending consideration of the inquiry board's report.

Bertucci was stationed with a field artillery unit in England for eight months but saw no battle action, Ericsson said.

Condition of eight wounded was said to be serious.

SHANGRI-LA TRIO BACK IN STATES

Hamilton Field, Calif., July 9 (AP)—A pretty WAC corporal and two other survivors from "Shangri-La" arrived in an Army transport plane from New Guinea today enroute to Washington to report to the Army on the plane crash last May 13 which cost the lives of 21 others.

The three, still wearing bandages over burns suffered in the crash into a New Guinea valley surrounded by 14,000 foot peaks, are Cpl. Margaret Hastings, 30, Owego, N. Y.; Lt. John S. McCollum, 26, Trenton, Mo., and Sgt. Kenneth Decker, 34, Kelso, Wash.

The pert little corporal—she weighs 100 pounds and stands five feet one and one-half inches tall—contradicted two reports which had preceded her.

She was not offered a throne by the natives of the hidden valley in New Guinea. She formed no romantic attachments for any of the men she was marooned with and has none at all.

Observers also contradicted another report. The corporal's eyes are of the brightest blue. They are not hazel.

McCollum and Decker bore out the corporal's story and said they likewise had no romantic attachments. The lieutenant, however, then added that he wanted to stop over in Dayton, Ohio, for some unfinished business but declined to give the girls' name.

DEADLOCK OVER BERLIN CONTROL REMAINS TODAY

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Berlin, July 9 (AP)—The Russians remained in complete control today of the entire municipal administration of Berlin, pending a break in the deadlock over the issue of supplying food and fuel for the districts occupied by the Americans and British.

Col. Frank Howley, chief of the military government of the United States occupation zone, declared last night he expected the major powers to decide within a few days on an overall plan of government for Berlin, but he disclaimed personal knowledge of the immediate issues of food and fuel.

May Be Up to Big 3

Earlier American and British sources asserted that unless they have control over the food and fuel situation in their respective zones there can be no real British and American military governments in the German capital.

The issue, which may be given the Big Three to decide, was viewed by American and British officials as so serious that withdrawal by the Western Allies from Berlin may be considered unless a practical solution is reached.

The question to be decided was whether the areas of Berlin taken over by the British and Americans shall receive food from the Russian-held outskirts, where British-American experts say the German capital normally gets most of its edibles.

Conference Held

These experts said it would be impractical for the Western Allies to truck supplies from hundreds of miles away.

Col. Howley would not comment on what was discussed at a conference attended by Soviet Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, who has ordered his commanders to retain control of the entire Berlin municipal administration, Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay for the United States, Lt. Gen. Sir Ronald Weeks for Great Britain, and others.

The conference ended without having reached any agreement, but Col. Howley optimistically predicted that "when the overall plan for the city is approved, we will get functioning."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Again I want to extend by compliments to you for the interest you have taken in our men and women in the armed forces, and now the photos of the dear little children of this and surrounding territory.

I should think the parents of these little ones would certainly appreciate your kindness.

What a joy it must be to the father overseas, to receive a Gettysburg Times containing a photo of his dear little boy or girl whom he has not seen during the past year, perhaps longer. Think of it. The Gettysburg Times several thousand miles away carrying a photo of some ones babe.

As we look at these dear little faces, as they appear from day to day, we ask ourselves the question: Will they ever be called upon to make the supreme sacrifice on the battlefield of their country?

Let us hope and pray their parents will teach them the way of the Lord, namely, "Peace on earth, good will toward men." Then the Gettysburg Times will rejoice and be proud of the efforts they put forth for the advancement of civilization.

Then and then only will we have a continuation of Independence Days as we so nobly celebrate today.

Sincerely,
H. A. BUCHER,
Ortanna R. D. 2.

TIMETABLE FOR RETURN OF 31 DIVISIONS GIVEN

Washington, July 9 (AP)—On the theory it will bring no comfort to the Japanese, the war department has issued a time table for the return of 31 divisions from Europe between August and January.

With 11 others either back or in the process of returning, the movement will involve more than 500,000 men. Plans still subject to change call for eight divisions to remain in Europe as occupation forces and 18 still to be there at year's end, presumably to await shipping facilities.

The schedule:

August: 85th, 28th, and 30th infantry divisions and the 20th armored.

September: 14th, 5th, 6th and 91st Armored; 17th Airborne; 88th 91st, 35th, 45th and 103rd infantry.

October: 9th Armored and 92nd, 26th, 79th and 99th Infantry.

November: 10th Armored; 10th Mountain; 13th Airborne; 83rd, 63rd and 106th Infantry.

December: 2nd and 11th Armored; 34th, 90th, 80th and 76th Infantry.

The eight divisions ticketed for occupation duty are the 1st and 4th Armored and the 1st, 3rd, 9th and 36th Infantry and the 82nd Airborne.

The 18 not now scheduled for return this year are the 3rd, 8th, 12th and 16th Armored; the 101st Airborne, and the 42nd, 65th, 66th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 75th, 78th, 84th, 89th, 94, 100th and 102nd Infantry.

NEW PRINCETON IS LAUNCHED

Philadelphia, July 9 (AP)—With her new skipper pledging her to the task of avenging her namesake lost in the battle of Leyte gulf last October, the mighty aircraft carrier Princeton slid down the ways yesterday into the Delaware river.

Capt. John M. Hoskins of Belleville, Md., told a cheering crowd estimated at 65,000 "I can and do promise you now that the captain, officers and men of this ship will do all in their power to avenge that marvelous fighting ship of the same name x x x."

"We are counting on this new Princeton to pay for us a very personal debt with Japan," said Capt. W. H. Baracker of Washington, commander of the last Princeton.

Mrs. Harold W. Dodds, wife of the president of Princeton university, smashed the traditional bottle of champagne across the bow of the fifth fighting ship to bear the name of the New Jersey university. The band swung into "Princeton, Forward March," as Mrs. Dodds, who also christened the fourth Princeton, lifted the bottle.

The 27,000-ton Essex-class vessel was the first carrier to be launched at the Philadelphia navy yard. The crowd was the largest ever to witness a launching along the Delaware.

Squash Bugs As Garden Enemies

Squash bugs are often called "Stink" bugs. They are dark brown when fully grown, somewhat flat in structure and measure about five-eighths of an inch in length. The young pass through five stages of molting, from a pink-greenish color to the characteristic ash-gray. Eggs are laid on the under sides of cucurbit leaves in clusters of 5 to 50, shiny brown in shade.

The descriptive name of squash bug may easily lead beginners in gardening to the false assumption that this pest attacks no other plants than those of the squash. But this is not true. It often infests cucumbers, gourds, pumpkins and other members of the cucurbit family. It is sap-sucking in habit, which means that it does not eat the leaves but lives solely by inserting its sharp beak into the leaf or stem tissues and sucking out the sap. This method of attack causes badly injured leaves and vines to wither and die without many additional visible symptoms.

There is but one main generation or brood of squash bugs each year. From eggs laid on young cucurbit plants by the emerging adult female bug are hatched the tiny young. The adults may injure plants by feeding on them soon after growth appears through the ground. Later the small young join in the feeding, preferring to remain in clusters. But as they near full size they scatter to all parts of the garden wherever cucurbits are growing.

Being sap-sucking, as already mentioned, squash bugs are not easy to control with insecticides. Of course, they are immune to such stomach poisons as arsenate of lead, cyolite, Paris green and others. Occasionally the young can be killed by a direct coating of nicotine sulphate in a soapy spray or dust. The older bugs may be driven off by a nicotine dust but not many of them are killed by the application.

Perhaps the most effective control practice is to hand-pick the eggs and adult bugs. If this campaign is started as soon as the first bugs emerge, many will be killed before the eggs are deposited and thus the season's bug population is greatly reduced.

Experience proves that the adult bugs prefer to seek shelter under shading leaves, cloths and other objects when the sun is hot. This habit furnishes a practical clue to another inexpensive control measure—use of simple traps. After the bugs are known to be present, place short sections of boards beside the plants. Inspect the boards each evening and morning and kill the bugs taking refuge beneath them. Dusting or spraying with nicotine sulphate is recommended for early season combat. Use of board traps and hand-picking are preferable for mid-summer employment.

Every gardener should clean up and burn the refuse from his squash, cucumber, melon, gourd and pumpkin plants soon after the respective crops are harvested. Other insect pests of these crops are reduced along with squash bugs. Too, at least two or three dangerous diseases are eliminated from winter survival.

Inviting birds to nest and rear their young in and near the garden is another wise investment in labor and materials, in numerous other insect problems as well as that of the troublesome squash bug.

Just Folks

FISHERMAN'S MEMORY
A great red barn upon the shore,
A steeple pointing to the sky;A spot—three hundred yards or more—
Where bass are feeding in July
We sought in days before the war
To do some fishing—he and I.Now here's the month with us again,
And blue the lake and blue the sky.The red barn waits the golden grain,
The steeple points to God on high;
The spot he loved to fish is plain,
But little heart to go have I.Perhaps in happier days to be,
When time to spare again we know,
And both of us to play are free,
Out where the barn and steeple show
We'll find that spot off shore, and he
Once more will let the anchor go.

Today's Talk

TRANSFORMING INFLUENCES

There are scores of forces always working away in our lives without our realizing it. And, to a greater or lesser degree we are influenced and transformed by them. And these agencies, or whatever you wish to call them, are unselfish. Kindness, generosity, love and religion are all transforming.

Just think of the millions of lives that have been moulded and transformed by a mother's love, or through long service in some noble cause. Take the missionaries, Red Cross workers, Army and domestic nurses, and thousands of our public service workers. They all exert an endless influence that is transforming in a number of ways.

A pal and roommate of mine in college once told me that the reading of "Les Miserables" by Victor Hugo changed the course of his life. Great books have a power like this.

At one period in my college career I got discouraged and considered leaving, but fortunately I sought out a friend of my father's who was an inspiring minister to the masses in a great city. "Don't do it," he said. "There are all too many uncompleted lives in the world now, people who never completed anything. Battle it out. Stay to the end for the big contests in life ahead." That decided me. I went back thrilled and with renewed courage, and never again thought of quitting anything!

Most of us have more power within in us than we ever suspect. So, by exerting our influence, wherever possible, we lend-lease courage and help others win battles that they never thought they could win! We never know when we are working a transforming influence upon others, but we know that whenever we seek to do so, we blot out a lot of faintness and fail-feeling that may be germinating somewhere.

Read the story of Zacchaeus, in the New Testament. He was a short pudgy fellow, but when Jesus came to his town he determined to see him, for he sensed greatness in him. So he climbed a tree, where he could see the holy man when he passed by. But Jesus caught his eye at once, and called to him to come down, for he wanted to go to his house for a talk and nourishment. Thrilled, the little fellow climbed down and proudly took Jesus to his home where he told him that he wanted to make good on anything that he had ever done wrong. Zacchaeus had been transformed by the influence of this Teacher of Good.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Glory and Power of Art."

At the turn of the 20th century, total motor vehicle production in the United States was 4,192 cars. Josephine Bonaparte introduced the custom of daily baths with soap in Europe.

From the Files of the

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Fourth of July Celebration — The morning of the 4th was ushered in by the firing of cannon, ringing of bells, and beating of drums. All the stores and shops were closed, and the whole town wore a Sabbath appearance.

At about half past nine o'clock, the different marshals, appointed for the occasion, were upon the ground, and by their directions, a procession was formed in the diamond, and conducted to the German church, where a prayer was offered by the Rev. S. M. Mullin. The procession, then accompanied by excellent music, proceeded to the beautiful grove along Rock creek. The Declaration of Independence was read in a very commanding manner by Dr. Charles Horner, after which the orator of the day, D. M. Conaughy, Esq., delivered a most eloquent and powerful oration. The company partook of a most excellent dinner, provided by Mrs. Craig, Daniel M. Snyder and James Dobbins, Esqrs., delighted the company by several well-timed addresses.

Married: On Tuesday morning, by the Rev. S. M. Mullin, Mr. David Warren, of this borough, to Miss Elizabeth Hoff, of Germany township.

On Thursday last, by the Rev. E. V. Gerhart, Mr. George Groff, to Miss Elizabeth Miller, both of this county.

Ladies' Fair: It gives us pleasure to mention, that the ladies succeeded beyond their most sanguine expectations at their fair held during several days of last week, for the benefit of the Linnaean Society of Pennsylvania College. Their clear profit on articles sold is about $550; and will probably be about to between $600 and $700 when all is disposed of. This speaks well for the generosity of our citizens and is a high compliment to the praiseworthy exertions of the ladies.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Teachers Appointed: The examination of teachers for the Gettysburg public schools was held on July 1st. On the evening of the same day the board elected the following teachers for the ensuing year: School No. 1, Capt. John F. McCreary; 2, Miss Martha Warner; 3, Miss Jennie Hamilton; 4, Miss Maria Thompson; 5, Miss Mary J. McCreary; 6, Miss Nancy M. White; 7, Miss Alice Powers; 8, Miss Carrie McMillan.

A new school will be opened to meet the increase of scholars, to be known as No. 9, Miss Alice L. Warren teacher. The schools will be open on the 1st of September.

Rooms: One or two rooms wanted for school purposes. Enquire of J. H. Wert.

Married: Toot — Mummert — On Sunday morning, July 3d, at the Reformed parsonage, New Oxford, by the Rev. W. F. Davis, Mr. William Toot to Miss Amanda A. Mummert, both of near Gettysburg.

Himes—Reed—On the 28th ult., at the residence of Wm. King, Esq., by the Rev. W. H. Hillis, Mr. Alexander S. Himes, of New Oxford, to Mrs. Sarah F. Reed, daughter of the late Hon. R. G. Harper, of Gettysburg. No cards.

Closed: The summer session of Mrs. Eyster's Female Seminary closed on the 24th ult., with usual examination, which was very creditable. Miss Elsie Deatrich, of this place, was the only graduate.

Normal School: The Normal school in this place, under the charge of J. Howard Wert, county superintendent, closed the spring session on June 28th. On the evening of the 29th the final meeting of the Normal Literary society was held.

Select readings were given by Mr. Wert, and the following pupils: Miss Alice McGovern, of York Springs, and the Misses Eva Shillen and Lizzie Weirick, of Gettysburg; Wm. A. Currens, of Two Taverns; Gilbert H. Weigle, of Mechanicstown, Md., and Solomon Flemming, of Gettysburg.

Essays on educational topics were read by teachers of the graduating class: Miss Flora M. Hartzell, Wm. A. Currens, Miss Sophie Conover, Hanson O. Harner and Miss Lizzie Essick.

Mr. Wert was made the recipient of a handsome present from his scholars, in the shape of an elegant casket, a set of spoons, butter knife, etc.

Appropriate presentation speeches were made by Miss Essick and Mr. Harner. This session of the Normal has been a decided success, having had 50 pupils enrolled.

PANSIES, VIOLAS GROWN EASILY FROM SEEDS

Pansy plants such as are sold in flower in early spring may be grown quite easily by the gardener who has a cold frame. The seed is sown in late summer in a seed bed which can be shaded and watered.

Seed of one of the giant strains should be obtained if one wants large flowers. Violas may also be given the same treatment. All pansies are members of the viola family, but the name pansy is applied to those which have "faces."

If you have a seed bed made of fine soil shaded with a canopy of cheesecloth or lath, and which can be watered, sow the seed in rows. If you have no such seed bed prepare a flat shallow box full of sifted soil in the usual manner and sow the pansies in that. It can be placed in a shady spot and kept well watered until the seedlings appear.

Sow Thinly

In sowing spread the seed thinly. Mix sand with it if necessary to prevent overcrowding. If the seeds are too thick it will be difficult to disentangle the roots of the seedlings when time comes to move them. As soon as the seeds sprout they should be given all the light possible and plenty of fresh air. Do not let them dry out. Protect them from the mid-day sun.

When the seedlings have made their first true leaves they should be transplanted to other flats, where they have more space, or to the cold frame. Florists usually move them to flats where they are planted 2 inches each way; this is called "pricking out." They are allowed to grow here until they are small sturdy plants. The amateur may short cut this procedure and move the seedlings directly from the seed bed or first flat to the cold frame.

Soil in the cold frame should not

Let's talk "milk-cooling" for just a minute...

TIMES coming, maybe, when you'll be buying your milk cooler. That'll be a mighty important purchase, and it won't hurt to have a few facts about Esco.

It was Esco, you know, that designed and built the first patented milk cooler. And Esco has pioneered every major improvement in milk coolers ever since. Such things as the "icy wall" ... the "constant neck-high water level" ... the "circulator-agitator", all to cool milk better and faster, so it'll have a lower bacteria count, won't be rejected. Insurance, you might say, for your monthly milk check.

Tells How To Preserve Fruit Without Sugar

Even with the reduced sugar allowance for home canning, it's possible to obtain satisfactory canned fruit, says Miss M. L. Adams, home economics extension representative, Adams county.

The maximum allowance of 15 pounds of canning sugar per person will sweeten about 60 quarts of fruit. If 5 pounds of sugar are used for jams and jellies, the other 10 pounds will sweeten about 40 quarts of fruit. For each quart jar of fruit to be canned, make a syrup of a half cup of sugar and three-fourths to one cup of water. Some fruits, like sour cherries, may need a little more sugar while sweet fruits may take less.

When less sugar is used, home canned fruits have more of their natural fruit flavor. Even commercially canned fruits are being be overmanured, but should be light and friable and reasonably fertile. The plants should be set in rows, 4 inches apart in the rows, and 6 inches between the rows. Let the plants grow in the open through the fall until the ground begins to freeze. Then fill up the cold frame with dry leaves and cover it with the sash or boards. In severe weather the sash can be covered with straw mats or any such covering, but this is not usually needed.

In the spring as soon as frost begins to come out of the ground, the leaves should be taken off the pansy plants and the sash put on the frame. The management from now on is the same as any other planting in the spring. The pansies will bloom under the glass much earlier than they would outdoors, and you will have pansies to set out in the border when the tulips begin to bloom.

STAKING HELPS KEEP ORDER IN GARDEN ROWS

Properly staked plants insure an orderly garden. Lack of proper staking means that you are reasonably sure to have some wrecked and messy beds later in the season. A heavy rain or wind storm is likely to knock over tall and heavy foliage plants which naturally have stems not sufficiently sturdy to stand up under such circumstances.

Delphiniums are the first plants in the garden to show the need for staking. The heavy spikes of bloom on these stately perennials make them singularly susceptible to destruction by winds or heavy rains. Stake them before the buds start to open.

Gladiolus with heavy spikes of bloom are likely to need stakes. Lilies and iris of the taller types also need this assistance. Tall African and French marigolds are tipped over by wind or rain and become a jungle. Staking would have saved them.

Need Strong Stakes

The first requisite of good staking is that the stakes should be strong and capable of holding up the plant, but as unobtrusive as possible.

sible. Green painted stakes are least conspicuous. The cheapest and most efficient stakes are the bamboo canes sold in varying lengths by dealers. They may be bought already painted or in natural color and you can paint them yourself. They are strong and durable.

Heavy wire stakes are least obtrusive of all especially when painted green. Plants can be tied to them easily and hung upright so that the tying cannot be distinguished until viewed at close range.

Set the stakes and tie the plants before they come into bloom. A good job of staking that will not make the plant look stiff and obviously tied up cannot be done after it has come into bloom. For plants of lighter growth that are apt to sprawl and be of untidy habit, twigs or branches carefully applied make the best supports. The tall snapdragons need staking. If pinched back and tied the tall types throw out branches and become pyramids of bloom. The long terminal spike is sacrificed but a much greater quantity of bloom and finer garden display is obtained.

Sharpen up the tools. Digging time is upon us. A clean sharp hoe works twice as easily as a dull rusty one.

Give the big fruiting peppers plenty of room. Expert growers allow them two and a half feet in the row. Give them plenty of water. They are hot and thirsty.

BONUS CUTS TO MARITIME MEN BRING TROUBLE

(By The Associated Press)
Impending bonus cuts on base pay of 34 1/2 cents hourly brought a note of maritime discontent into the nation's labor picture today, but National Maritime Union (CIO) leaders emphasized it was not a strike in war-vital shipping.

Elsewhere about 40,000 persons were idle, including 16,500 in the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company's Akron, O., plant, the largest single dispute yet unsettled.

The maritime union's fifth biennial convention in New York voted to picket offices of the War Shipping Administration throughout the country, protesting cuts which became effective July 15.

Their reductions would cut bonuses to 33 1/3 per cent of base pay in the Atlantic and part of the Pacific, and to 66 2/3 per cent in all other waters except the far eastern Pacific and part of the Indian ocean where 100 per cent plus $5 per day would be paid.

Many Other Sore Spots

Union officers said pickets would carry signs, "This is not a strike" but a move to call attention to impending "wage cuts."

Besides the Akron strike, where the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company already is under Navy control as a result of labor difficulties, other disputes included 1,100 employees at the R. R. Donnelley printing plant in Chicago where the union shop was the issue; New York City newspaper deliveries voted to continue their strike despite WLB orders to return to work; 889 Graham-Paige employees, members of the UAW-CIO, and 700 ALP lumber employees at 12 Detroit yards.

SAY UNCLE

By DOROTHY BURGESS

Chapter 12

Every nerve in Mario's body was taut as she stood in the doorway of her bedroom watching the unsuspecting Mrs. Winston. Then, with an affected smile, she donned her ladylike cloak and sailed regally into the room.

"Mrs. Winston, I do believe?" she asked in her "ritziest" manner. Madge looked up, slightly startled. "Yes."

Then for a tense, exciting moment, they stood silently looking straight at one another. It was Madge who melted the icy tension with a smile.

"You are beautiful, Miss Drew," she said quietly and sincerely.

Mario, who was taken by surprise, forgot her role for a fleeting second and became Aggie O'Toole.

"You're not so bad looking yourself," she blurted out.

Then quickly recapturing her pose and continuing to act her conception of an aristocrat, she elegantly motioned Madge toward a chair.

"Do sit down, Mrs. Winston." "Thank you," said the natural aristocrat. As she watched Mario pick up a cigarette box, Madge couldn't help noticing her very transparent negligence.

"I can readily see why John finds you so fascinating," said Madge.

"Well," said Mario, "I must say I admire your frankness."

"I'm merely stating facts," "Cigarettes?" asked Mario, as she flourished in front of Madge the box she had thrown at Ben Golder.

"I don't indulge, but please don't mind me."

"I suppose you would like to know why I have come here to see you?" "Naturally. What's it all about?"

"It's about your giving up your career."

"My career?" She eyed Madge suspiciously. "Just why should you be interested in my career?"

"Because my whole future depends upon it."

"I don't get you."

"It's quite simple. I only hope you won't get angry with anything I might say."

"I suppose you realize, Mrs. Winston, that only out of the goodness of my heart am I seeing you at all."

"I appreciate that fact."

"Then don't you think it advisable to watch your p's and q's?"

"I was only referring to your being capable of facing facts."

"I'm not afraid to face anything," Mario snapped.

"Then I can speak quite openly and frankly?"

"Do," said Mario elegantly, "by all means, Mrs. Winston."

And Madge took her at her word by asking, "You want to live my kind of life don't you Miss Drew?"

"Anything wrong with that?"

"What makes you think it's worthy of sacrificing your career?"

A determined expression came over Mario's face and a hard tone crept into her voice. "Because, Mrs. Winston, I was born on the wrong side of the fence and ever since I was old enough to raise myself up on tiptoe so I could peek on the other side, I made up my mind that some day I'd make a gate in that fence for myself."

"But tell me, Miss Drew, aren't you afraid you'll find the other side of the fence very dull and unexciting?"

"Why should I?"

"After all, your life has been filled with so much color and adventure."

Mario promptly dropped her veneer. "Yeah? Well, tell me this—if the other side is so damned boring why have you stuck it out so long?"

Madge smiled. "It's different with me. In the first place, I was born on the other side, and in the second place, I was born void of any talent."

"That's your hard luck—not mine."

"Yes, I envy your great talent. I envy your ability to share it with the world, your gift of being able to entertain audiences by making them laugh and cry. I envy the new fields that lie before you to conquer, and the triumphant rungs you can keep adding to your ladder of success, while I, I live from day to day, the same set pattern of existence, and my only treasure is my love for John."

Mario resented the way Madge was making her feel. She jerked herself to her feet.

"What say, if we cut out the heart-throbs?"

"Believe me, Miss Drew, I'm not trying to arouse your sympathy. I'm merely trying to help you see the logical side."

"Your side, you mean?"

Madge stubbornly continued to drive in deeper her spike of discouragement. "Aren't you risking a great deal by turning down Crimmon Angel?"

"That's my business, Mrs. Winston," she flared, then suddenly asked, "Why?"

"For instance, many unpredictable things could happen between now and the time I give John a divorce. You might even change your mind about giving up the theatre."

"Like hell I will!" Then she looked at Madge curiously. "What's your point?"

"Just this—undoubtedly someone will step into your role in Chimson Angel and a new star might be born to take your place."

Madge's spike had found a vulnerable spot. She had said the one thing that Mario dreaded most—

Mario clenched her fists and said bittily, "There's only one Mario Drew, and don't you forget it!"

"I won't forget it most likely, but what about the fickle public?"

Mario had reached the boiling point. "You think you can scare me into changing my mind, don't you?"

"Can't you understand that I'm not trying to change your mind?"

"Then what in hell are you trying to do?"

"I'm trying to give you every chance in the world to find out for yourself."

"Find out for myself?"

"Yes. That's why I'm here. I have a plan that will settle once and for all our futures."

Chapter 13

Mario looked at her in utter disgust. "Look, Mrs. Winston, I've listened enough to your silly prattle and now if you'll excuse me—"

Mario's rudeness brought Madge to her feet, and she spoke coolly, "I'm left with only one alternative, Miss Drew."

Mario looked at her coldly. "And what is that, Mrs. Winston?"

"I shall have to reconsider giving John a divorce."

Without another word Madge picked up her purse and started for the door, and Mario, realizing she was in a tight spot, grew panicky.

"Mrs. Winston—wait!" she called. Madge turned. "Wait? For what?"

"I'm sorry I lost my temper," she said apologetically, forcing a meek smile.

"That's quite all right," said Madge indifferently, knowing she had the situation well in hand.

"Won't you reconsider telling me about your little plan?"

An amused smile came over Madge's face. "Then you're willing to listen?"

"I almost killed Mario to say, 'Yes.'"

"Very well," said Madge lightly, as she returned to the divan.

"I need a stimulant," said Mario. "If I have Sophie make some coffee, will you join me?"

"I'd be delighted."

"I'll tell Sophie."

In the meantime, downstairs in the lobby poor Mr. Dithers, the manager, knowing Madge was upstairs, became excited as he watched John Winston come striding up to the desk.

"Good morning," said John crisply. "I'd like to see Miss Drew."

"But," Mr. Dithers choked again and asked feebly, "do you think you should?"

John looked surprised. "Why not?"

"No reason, no reason," he stammered, and then picked up the house phone and asked in a quavering voice for Penthouse D.

Sophie answered the call from the kitchen's extension, and Mario, who had just entered to order some coffee, stood by listening.

"Miss Drew's residence," said Sophie in her bored manner. Then a sign of life came into her deadpan face as she listened and abruptly turned to Mario.

"That flowery jerk downstairs says Mr. Winston wants to come up."

Mario stamped her foot impatiently. "For crying out loud, what's he doing here at this hour of the morning?"

"Shall I say you're still asleep?"

Mario thought hard. "No there's something screwy going on. Tell Dithers to send him up."

"I'll get rid of her."

Mario swept back into the living room.

"Mrs. Winston," she asked overgraciously, "I'm terribly sorry, but it absolutely slipped my mind that I promised to let myself be interviewed this morning. The man is on his way up here now, so would you mind waiting for just a few moments in my bedroom?"

"Not at all," and Madge rose agreeably from the divan.

And as Madge entered the bedroom Mario called to her, "When

Red Roses Take Pair At Allentown

(By The Associated Press)

Lancaster's Red Roses continued to show their heels to the rest of the Interstate league last night by sweeping a pair from the Allentown Redbirds, 12-3 and 5-0.

With the exception of the tenacious Wilmington Blue Rocks, the Red Roses now have shaken off virtually all competition, holding a 14-game edge over third-place Trenton.

Wilmington dumped Trenton twice, 9-6 and 6-0, to remain three games off the pace. Hagerstown climbed into fourth place by dividing with the York White Roses, taking the opener, 10-3, and dropping the nightcap, 5-2.

The Red Roses uncorked a 13-hit attack on three Allentown pitchers in the first game as Fred Peeler tossed a six-hitter to coast to victory. Les McCrabb won his sixth triumph in the seven-inning aftermath, limiting Allentown to five hits. Bob Moyer homered for Lancaster in the second game.

Haverford, Pa., July 9 (AP)—Dr. Felix Morley, president of Haverford college, has been granted a one-year leave of absence, effective July 1, the board announced yesterday. He will go to Washington to engage in newspaper writing and other literary work.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, July 9 (AP)—Those folks who like to delve into radio statistics have come up with something different in survey data—that more people in the British Isles listen to U. S. originated programs than do Americans to those produced in London and relayed in this country.

The survey, made on behalf of BBC, found that "more than 15,500,000 adults in the United States heard one or more of the BBC programs," during the last week in April. However, it was stated that "about 40,000,000 Americans know of one or more of six BBC programs re-broadcast nationally."

On the other side, it was estimated that "20,000,000 adults in Britain had recently listened to one or more of seven programs produced in the United States" and carried by the British radio.

CHICAGO CUBS TAKE NATIONAL CIRCUIT LEAD

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

First in hitting, first in fielding and first in the National league is the sure-fire success parlay that Charley Grimm has worked with his Chicago Cubs since leaving Wrigley Field.

The Bruins took over the batting lead shortly after they hit the road east, took sole possession of the fielding honors and then pushed into the front row in the standings yesterday by a double victory over the Phillies while Brooklyn was falling twice.

Ever since the Cubs hit the 24-run jackpot in Boston about a week ago they have been hard to get along with. They took four straight from the Groggy Braves and kicked the fiddle Phils around for five more. Added to an earlier victory against the Giants, it gave them 10 straight decisions. They have topped 13 of 16 on the Atlantic seaboard.

Pitching and Base Hits

Pitching is supposed to win pennants and the Bruins are getting more of it lately from the rejuvenated Claude Passeau, Hooks Wye, Paul Derringer, Hy Vandenberg and Paul Erickson but it's the base hits that paved the way to the front of the class.

About 14 hits and eight runs a day are enough to pull any hurler through and that's what the Chicago sluggers have been giving their staff on the victory-streak.

Grimm had to use three of his elbowers yesterday to trim the Phils in the first game, 12-6, as Ben Chapman's lowly brethren made headlines in reverse by amassing 17 safe blows and still losing by a lopsided count. Ray Prim was the victor on relief but Hank Wyse went all the way on a six-hitter to win the second contest 9-2 and assure the Cubs of the lead.

Rough on Brooklyn

St. Louis was rough on a Brooklyn turnout of 32,001 who boosted the Ebbets Field paid attendance to 715,465, almost assuring a season total of a million. Charley Barrett and Ken Burkhardt took turns plugging the Dodgers by identical 6-4 scores with costly errors by Vic Lombardi and Clyde King sending the home club to its downfall. Even a base-loaded homer by Dixie Walker in the first inning of the nightcap was all in vain.

So as the Dodgers and all other major league clubs go into a three-day "vacation" usually reserved for the all-star game but instead devoted to charity tilts, this season, the Brooks are second but only a half game ahead of the onrushing Red Birds.

Bill Voiselle pitched his first complete winning game since May 20 in notching his 10th decision by the shutout route, 5-0, over Cincinnati after Bucky Walters pulled up to the 500 mark with a 7-7 win record by handcuffing New York with five safeties, 5-2.

Tommy Holmes ran his consecutive game hitting streak to 37 by hitting safely in both games as his Boston Braves bowed to Pittsburgh, 10-8 and as they plastered the Buccos, 13-1.

Largest crowd of the day and banner turnout of the Detroit season, 53,888 paid, saw the Tigers divide a pair with the New York Yankees. After Hank Borowy had bested Dizzy Trout in the opener, 8-6, despite Hank Greenberg's third homer, Al Benton turned back the Yanks, 3-2, in his first complete game since he broke a leg May 24.

Dave Ferriss upped his victory total to 14 by blanking Cleveland, 6-0 with seven hits. The Tribe evened the count in the second with Allie Reynolds' fine relief chucking saving a 4-2 margin for Cleveland's Pete Center.

Chicago's White Sox squeezed past Philadelphia twice by one run margins, 5-4 and 3-2, closing the A's disastrous road trip with a record of two wins and 20 defeats.

St. Louis cooled off Washington for the second straight day, 5-1, as Nelson Potter snapped a seven-game losing streak. Their scheduled second tilt was rained out.

The manufacture of basic chemicals now ranks as a major industry in Canada.

Hartford's habit of pulling the tight ones out of the fire is making the Laurels a serious contender in this year's Eastern League chase.

The 1944 flag winners did it again yesterday, edging Scranton 2-1 and 3-2 in a twin bill to gain two full games of the Albany Senators, double losers to Wilkes-Barre, 18-2 and 4-3. Utica won two from Williamsport, 4-2 and 7-0, and Elmira defeated Binghamton twice, 3-2 and 6-3.

Today's games: Albany at Wilkes-Barre 8 p. m., Hartford at Scranton 8 p. m., Utica at Williamsport 8 p. m., and Binghamton at Elmira 8 p. m.

INTER-LEAGUE Sports
GAMES TO BEGIN Roundup

New York, July 9 (AP)—With the All-Star game suspended for the first time since its inception in 1933 because of the difficult transportation situation, the big leagues to-night stage the first three of seven inter-league games for the benefit of the American Red Cross and other relief agencies.

The final four contests will be played Tuesday as the Majors take a three-day rest from pennant hostilities. Wednesday will be an open day for regular-schedule traveling.

The exhibition schedule:

Tonight
Cubs vs. White Sox at Comiskey park.
Cincinnati at Cleveland.
Yankees vs. Giants at Polo grounds.

Tuesday
Cardinals vs. Browns at Sportsman's park (night).
Brooklyn at Washington (night).
Phillies vs. Athletics at Shibe park (night).
Braves vs. Red Sox at Fenway park.

A scheduled eighth game, between the Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh Pirates, was cancelled when the ODT refused to grant the Tigers permission to detour some 62 miles in order to get to Pittsburgh.

SPORT SHORTS

Camden, N. J., July 9 (AP)—Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Polynesian, upset victor in the Peckness July 9, heads a field of 83 nominated for the $25,000 added Jersey Handicap at Hardsen State Park August 25. Polynesian's leading opponent for the three-year-old crown, Walter M. Jafford's Pavot, winner of the Belmont Stakes, also was nominated for the mile and a furlong test for three-year-olds, along with Alexis, Darby Dieppe, Jeep, War Jeep and Wildlife.

Philadelphia July 9 (AP)—The Phillies not only lost a double header to the Chicago Cubs yesterday but they also lost hard-hitting Vince DiMaggio. The clubbing outfielder who leads the Phillies in home runs and runs batted in was lost to the club for an indefinite period after he was struck on the right instep by a foul tip from his own bat in the seventh inning of the first game.

ADD-SPORTS SHORTS—

Riverton, N. J., July 9 (AP)—Miss Lesly Kimball, 14-year-old high school freshman, and Knute Hunn, of Philadelphia were far ahead in a boat race yesterday. They turned a black buoy and headed for the finish line. But the correct turning point was a red buoy 200 yards beyond. John Molloy, of Riverton, who was trailing far beyond, turned the right buoy and won the race.

Philadelphia, July 9 (AP)—Lightweight Champion Bob Montgomery is confident that he'll beat Mexico's Nick Moran in a 10-round non-title rematch at Shibe Park tonight. "I'm prepared to win by a knockout like a champion would, especially in my home town," says the Philadelphia corporal who is on furlough from his army base in California. The baby-faced Mexican has other ideas. "I beat the champ once before and expect to swarm all over him again," he says.

Experience Pays Off On Courts

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—Perseverance and experience apparently are as big attributes in national tennis championships as they are in anything else.

At least, that's the way things developed here yesterday as Bill Talbert of Wilmington, Del., won the national clay courts men's singles championship, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke grabbed the women's singles crown.

Both won in upsets, but that's only half the story. Talbert had been trying for eight years to win the crown. But the nearest the young man, ranked No. 2 nationally, ever came to it was last year when Francisco (Pancho) Segura, of Ecuador and the University of Miami, beat him in the finals. Yesterday Talbert reached his goal when he turned back "El Pancho" 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2.

Looking Forward To Friday 13th

Philadelphia, July 9 (AP)—Friday the 13th will be a real red letter day for Martin Golt.

He'll celebrate his 13th birthday anniversary in a hospital—but it will be the happiest birthday of his life.

He was taken to the hospital last October 15 suffering from infantile paralysis. Doctors said his was a hopeless case.

But now he's scooting around the children's ward, distributing invitations to his birthday party. Doctors say he has recovered almost completely thanks to the Sister Kenny method of treatment.

NABBED FOR GAMBLING

Philadelphia, July 9 (AP)—Thirteen men were arrested and charged with gambling at Shibe park during a double header yesterday between the Philadelphia Phillies and the Chicago Cubs. Members of the vice squad said the men were betting on "every possible angle" of the game, including strikes, balls, hits, runs and the next play.
